Chapter 41 Update

If Time Were Really Money

by Randy Pennington
Pennington Performance Group

Would you pay two hours of your life for a bus ride? Would you choose to sleep late if you had less than one day to live? Would you work harder to deliver results if it added extra time to your life?

The movie "In Time" takes us to a world in the not too distant future where time is the currency. In this futuristic world, everyone stops aging at age 25 and stops living one year after that UNLESS they bank additional time.

Wages are paid in hours and minutes. Gambling debts are paid in time transferred to the winner. The wealthy walk slowly, savor every moment, and hire security to protect themselves. They can live forever without aging. The poor run.

This question ran through my head as I watched the movie: What would I do differently if time was the real money of the day?

Would the twenty minutes watching videos on You Tube be worth twenty minutes of my life? Would I pay one hour for a nice bottle of wine, or would I stick with the Iced Tea for 5 minutes? Would I ensure that my work added so much value that I received a bonus in time, or would I do just the minimum?

These are more than interesting dinner party questions for people with too much time on their hands. They cut to the core of what is important in your life. Would you give someone a half-hour so that they could eat a meal if you knew that it could mean your death? Would you hoard your time, or would you give it away?

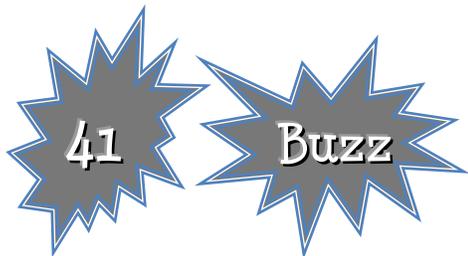

Would you steal time from another if it meant living for another day? Would you work harder or show a greater sense of urgency in your work if it earned you more time?

The way we invest and spend our time says a lot about our commitment to achieving the results we say that we want. "To Do" lists declare our intentions. "It's Done" lists demonstrate our commitment to achieving results.

The English writer Charles Caleb Colton, said, "Much may be done in those little shreds and patches of time which every day produces, and which most men throw away."

The proverb says that Time is money. What would you do differently if that was true in the most literal of terms?

The meeting was called to order at 11:15 AM by President Tim Bunkers. Prior to the meeting the City of Cedar Rapids were provided with the Employer of the Year Award. City representatives included Rob Davis, Rita Rasmussen, Becky Kluesner, Carol Morgan and Sara Cook. Congratulations and thank you for continuing to support IRWA and Chapter 41.

Introductions of meeting attendees started the business meeting with 21 members in attendance.

Secretary’s Report: The minutes from the June 25, 2011 business meeting held at Barratta’s Restaurant in Des Moines were reviewed. A reminder the minutes are posted on the IRWA, Chapter 41 website for review prior to the business meeting. A motion was made and seconded to approve the minutes as published.

Old Business:

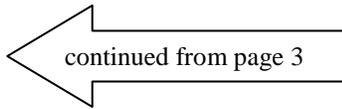

50th Anniversary 2013: We are planning to hold the 50th Anniversary of our Chapter around the Spring Forum in 2013. If you have any historical items that could be displayed or used during the celebration and/or have ideas for the evening event, please contact Tim Bunkers, Jim Diemer or Don Corrigan. The Nebraska Chapter is interested in helping plan the event. We will need to have the plans in place by June 2012. This event will require volunteers to plan, organize and host the celebration so please contact Tim, Jim or Don to let them know how you can help.

Mini Best Practices Session: Tim Bunkers and Ken Wunsch will be working with Rita Rasmussen to review the information from the previous seminar. They will then be working to have an outline and action items ready for the next business meeting. One of the critical first steps is compiling an invitation list for attendees and interested parties. Please let Tim and Ken know if you would like to assist with this task or if you have ideas for speakers. The cost of the event, $99.00, was briefly discussed and how we may want to charge a similar price due. This will be discussed more in detail once we start putting the plans together. Rita also suggested using PayPal to make it more convenient for attendees to pay in advance. This is another great opportunity to offer your time and knowledge to help make this event a success. Please contact Tim Bunkers, Dave Hingtgen, or Liz VanZomeran if you are interested in helping or have ideas to share.

New Career Path: Please let us know if you need specific courses to allow you to proceed along the new career path. Rick Skinner, Education Chair, can be of assistance if you have questions about courses and the designations.

Region 3 Fall Forum: Chapter 20 is hosting the Fall Forum in Bloomington, MN on Oct. 13-14. There will be a seminar on Thursday, auction Thursday evening, and Forum on Friday. If you are planning on attending please consider bringing along an auction item for the silent auction being held on Thursday evening. Randy Pennington is planning on attending and will provide an energetic and informative presentation.
